

Prof. Dr. Arisa Ema, University of Tokyo

AI technologies have rapidly penetrated human society and it varies according to the country, region and sociopolitical context considered. R&D guidelines and utilization guidelines have been discussed around the world and AI ethics and governance are becoming important topics. This talk shares some case and experiences from the Japanese community to consider the impact of AI on our society.